
Welcome to the New Message Boards

Posted by admin - 2008/03/08 08:10

As we further refine our website here at the Cape Coral Barometer, we cordially welcome you to our brand new message boards...and we invite you all to join up.

If you already had an account on our old forum, you will unfortunately need to sign up again. Your old username and password will not work.

Comment on feature stories about recreation, dining, and attractions in Cape Coral, Fort Myers, Pine Island, Sanibel and Captiva (or anywhere else in Southwest Florida). Share your local experiences with us. Offer us ideas for new stories. Or just use our website to network and make new friends.

We've got lots of social networking and community based features soon to debut. Sign up today and join the discussion.

Also, don't forget to sign up for the Cape Coral Barometer Newsletter (sign-up form is located on our home page). We'll keep you updated, about once a month, on new Southwest Florida feature stories, restaurant reviews, daytrips, attractions and everything new here at the Barometer offices.

We'll never sell your email addresses, and we promise not to send you boatloads of annoying spam...just intermittent, quality information you'll surely value and enjoy.
